Offering timely, meaningful information to our primary care practices is part of our commitment to patient-centered care.

We want the data we provide to support your care team as you put patient-centered care into action. Our reports can help your practice identify opportunities to better manage your patients’ health on a population level, engage patients who can benefit from care management and care planning, and help to improve the likelihood that your patients will reach their optimal state of health.

In this webinar, you can learn more about:

- Available Enhanced Personal Health Care reports
- Sample scenarios for how to use these reports in your practice
- Examples of what the reports will look like
